

ABSTRACT

An apparatus for fast booting computer and method for the same are described. The apparatus has a memory accessing unit for storing a booting information, a main memory, and at least one CPU and a BIOS unit for setting
5 the memory accessing unit as booting device of the computer. The CPU reads the booting information and saves the booting information to the main memory when the computer is booting.